Glendale High School Homecoming this year is going to be great. It's going to be at Santa Anita Race Track. The day it's going to fall on is Nov. 11. The theme is going to be "Make a Wish." All Glendale High students are welcome to come. Laurenne Babayan said, "This year's Homecoming is going to be the best one yet—there are lots of surprises in store. We are going Big!"

Students are excited about going to the dance. Senior Grigor Gukasyan is looking forward to Homecoming this year. Senior Preni Gharibian said, "I can't wait until Homecoming is here." As another student Daniel Keshishyan said, "I'm indecisive on who I am going to take to Homecoming this year."

With this said, Homecoming is going to be lots of fun and all students should come. Tickets go on sale on Oct. 17. Students can buy the tickets at the student store, or tables that will be set up at lunch time. Tickets will be priced $50 with ASB card and $55 without.

The dance is being held on 11-11-11, so it is scheduled to end at 11:11 p.m. Students can bring anyone from any other school that they please as long as they meet the requirements. It's going to be a one in a million exclusive party for Glendale High students.

The Homecoming Dance will be held at Santa Anita Park in Arcadia on Friday, Nov. 11.

31st Round Up held last night

There has been a bustle among the students at Glendale High the past few weeks as club leaders, captains, and directors lead their members through a busy preparation for the annual Round Up. Round Up was held last night from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. in the quad.

Students paid an admission of $2 and spent their extra money on a variety of food, drinks, and games.

Each and every club, team, and organization came up with an item or two to fund-raise for their club. Almost a thousand people filled up the quad, feeding on the excitement of being entertained, socializing, and spending an evening of jubilation among friends and family.

Volleyball sold their usual boba drinks,

GSA sold Rice Krispy treats, UNICEF sold pizza, KEY Club sold dumplings, the Senior Class sold sodas, choir sold grilled cheese sandwiches and smores, and the menu went on. Besides food and drinks, the ASB had the wedding booth, cheer had wristbands for sale, drama ran the Karaoke machine, and multiple other activities were included at the mini carnival.

As the clock ticked towards the end of the event, the festivity only accumulated as students discovered more and more activities to indulge themselves in.

There was a surprising increase in the number of clubs this year. The event seemed to be more overflowed with excitement than in past years. This increase in the number of clubs just gave students more hopes of fund-raising.

Explosion, Stylus editors named

The new school year calls for new yearbook and Explosion editors-in-chief. After interviewing the potential editors, adviser Pat Lancaster chose seniors Daly Jimenez for the Explosion and Venita Dilanchian for the Stylus (yearbook).

Becoming an editor-in-chief requires leadership skills, and knowledge about the position. These two have shown their outstanding characteristics and have stood out amongst everyone else in the classes.

"Being the editor-in-chief for the Explosion is very exciting, and gives lots of opportunities for college; our staff is very hard-working and determined to do well this year," said Jimenez.

Dilanchian said, "I'm so excited to be the yearbook editor-in-chief because I get to work to create a book that sums up our entire memories at Glendale High. I feel that this year's yearbook is going to be much better because we have an awesome yearbook staff. Also, everyone has great ideas that contribute into making an amazing yearbook."

Even though the two editors are in different classes and are in-charge of different groups, they both have similar responsibilities. They both need to make sure that the other editors are doing their jobs.

Lancaster said, "Both (newspaper and yearbook) staffs are very young, having only one or two people who returned from last year, but I am excited at how quickly the students are picking things up. It is going to be a good year."

So far both Jimenez and Dilanchian are having a great time being in charge and are looking forward to the rest of the school year with their staff members.
